Connecting with the Divine.

As healers, we are gradually more and more aware of the presence of Divine Beings that help us facilitate the energy of healing, which is the Energy of the Love of God.

Learning how to tap into this realm opens a pathway for greater healing to occur. The objective of this portion of the workshop is to facilitate the enhancement of the four "clairs". The term "clair" means clear, therefore, clairvoyance (clear-sight), clairaudience (clear-hearing), claircognizance (clear-knowing) and clairsentience (clear-feeling), are extensions of our senses and can be heightened.

What is Sacred Geometry?

All of life, from the smallest splitting atom to the magnificence of our human body to the vastness of all creation is based upon geometric forms. Leonardo da Vinci, Pythagoras, Plato and Galileo, to name a few, studied, in great detail, the shapes of the natural universe and discovered the replication of geometric forms in nature and even within our human body. These philosophers and scientists hypothesized that an in depth study of these naturally occurring geometric forms would allow mankind to begin to understand the "Mind of God". Over time, this study has been referred to as Sacred Geometry. Today, as centuries ago, scientists, physicists, architects, geometers and geologists are employing the principles of geometrics as a means to understand the use and inherent strength of these patterns in nature. In this workshop, Sacred Geometry will be explained, along with its relationship to the human body and healing. Over the past three years, Elaine Grohman has worked with clients and has developed a curriculum employing the principles of Sacred Geometry as an energetic modality. Experiences with clients and students have shown that both client and healer have heightened experiences of awareness when employing these energetic patterns. This modality, entitled "Healing from the 4th Dimension" is taught as a hands-on therapeutic energy modality. Students will have an opportunity to learn about the energetic patterns of the body, learn to palpate the energetic flow within the body and begin to understand how geometric forms, when used in hands-on healing, help to heighten the effects of an energy treatment, such as pain reduction, relaxation and an overall sense of well-being.

What is Color Balancing of the Chakra

System? The human chakra system will be explained along with the significance of color, vibration and sound and how these relate to each of the seven main chakras. What is the significance of the colors of the chakra system? How can the color of a chakra along with its complementary color be used to balance the energy systems of the body? These questions and more will be explained and experienced by those in attendance. (Approximately 2 hours) Cost: $380 per person
